Calling all STEM Champions!

SmartLab's STEM Identity Day 2026 is happening November 6th, and we're inviting parents, professionals, and other community partners to be part of something powerful.

What is STEM Identity Day?
It's more than just a day—it's a movement. STEM Identity Day invites students across the country to see themselves in STEM through hands-on, real-world experiences. It's a celebration of confidence, curiosity, and connection—where classroom learning comes to life.

Students walk away believing:
"I belong here. I can do this. I add value. I'm future-ready."

We need YOU—community professionals who can share your career story or simply show students that STEM is everywhere and for everyone.

Whether you're a software developer, civil engineer, nurse, entrepreneur, or maker—your experience matters. You can:
• Lead a Q&A about your STEM journey
• Join a project showcase
• Learn from students as they teach you what they've built in their SmartLab

We'll provide everything you need: volunteer guides, sample social posts, and email templates.

Save the Date: Friday, November 6, 2026
Let's empower the next generation of STEM leaders—together.
